STOUT TECHNOLOGY PARK NEARLY A REALITY

A 20-year dream may finally be a reality as the Stout Foundation moves to aid in the development of a technology park for the University of Wisconsin-Stout.

Because of the highly technical nature of many UW-Stout programs and the specific need for Stout students to have exposure to business and industry, it has been thought that having a specialized technology park near the university would provide several advantages to both business and university communities.

Students would reap various benefits: the opportunity to work for small, growing companies in new high technology areas and handle "real time" problems, as well as to observe business development from a variety of angles.

Businesses, in turn, would have casual accessibility to Stout's faculty, various data bases and its very specialized library, in addition to a substantial work force with specific interest in the industry.

Background

In 1968 the Stout Foundation purchased a tract of land on the eastern edge of Menomonie with the idea of developing a research and training park. Over the years that idea has been dormant, but recently the Foundation formed a technology park committee to explore possibilities.

In the summer of 1987, the Stout Foundation contracted with a Twin Cities consulting firm to conduct a feasibility study. The results of that study were available in early 1988. The businesses and industries surveyed expressed a definite interest in locating facilities in a technology park because of the advantages UW-Stout's presence would offer. Several respondents indicated an immediate interest in developing sites in the park.

"We were pleasantly surprised by the enthusiastic response," said M. James Bensen, Stout's dean of the School of Industry and Technology and chair of the Stout Foundation Technology Park Committee. "We quickly realized we have a viable idea here."

The Foundation hired an architect to develop a plan for the actual site and to meet with a variety of city and state officials to explore possible funding for sewer, water, street and other essential utilities for the park.

The goal is to have a basic infrastructure, for the park, in place by early 1989 and begin actual construction of various sites immediately thereafter. Alumni and friends of the university with an interest in the technology park should contact the Stout Foundation office, 715/232-1256.

BUSH FELLOWSHIP AWARDED TO STOUT ALUMNUS

Joseph Bressette, '75 recipient of the 1987 Outstanding Young Alumni Award from UW-Stout, has been awarded a Bush Leadership Fellowship from the Bush Foundation.

Bressette is executive director of the Great Lakes Inter-Tribal Council, Inc. in Lac du Flambeau. He oversees the organization of programs and initiatives serving Wisconsin's ten tribes. Bressette has applied to the Harvard JFK School of Government master of public administration program. He hopes to augment his experience to more effectively administer tribal programs.

The objective of Bush Leadership Fellowships is to enrich, through academic or internship opportunities, the experience of strongly motivated individuals, in their mid-careers, and to prepare them for higher responsibility.

Of the 260 applicants, 21 awards were made to men and women in northern and western Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. Bressette and Waldo Hagen, UW-River Falls, were the only awardees from Wisconsin.

NEW CHANCELLOR ANNOUNCED FOR UW-STOUT

Charles W. Sorensen, historian and academic vice president of Winona State University in Minnesota, has been named the new chancellor of University of Wisconsin-Stout. In announcing the appointment, UW System President Kenneth A. Shaw said, "Charles Sorensen has the experience and correct philosophy to lead Stout into the future. Like its past leaders, he has a respect for tradition and for Stout's unique mission—and, as past leaders, he has shown a willingness to leave no stone unturned in assuring excellence."

Acting Chancellor Wesley L. Face has worked with Sorensen through the American Association of State Colleges and Universities and feels that Sorensen will "do an excellent job."

As Winona State's vice president for academic affairs, Sorensen has developed a strong partnership with IBM for the delivery of on-site employee instruction in computer science and mathematics. IBM, in turn, provides significant gift assistance and is instrumental in attracting more minority students.

Sorensen has demonstrated the capabilities needed "to build on Stout's strength in technology while integrating liberal studies more completely in that mission," stated Shaw.

More than 100 candidates vied for the chancellor's position. Regent Ruth C. Clusen of Green Bay, chairperson for the chancellor selection committee, said Sorensen was selected "because he has the credentials needed to continue Stout's commitment to a unique blend of technical and liberal education."

Sorensen will begin his duties on August 15, 1988. He replaces Chancellor Robert S. Swanson who retired from UW-Stout on March 20, 1988.

A native of Moline, Ill., Sorensen received a baccalaureate degree in history and political science in 1964 from Augustana College in Rock Island, Ill., an M.S. in history in 1967 from Illinois State University, and his Ph.D. in American history in 1973 from Michigan State University. Additionally, he attended the Harvard University Institute for Educational Management in 1981.

Before coming to Winona State in 1984, Sorensen was academic dean of Grand Valley State College in Allendale, Mich., for six years and, prior to that, assistant dean of the institution's College of Arts and Sciences from 1976 to 1978. He began his teaching career in 1968 as an American history instructor at Tri-State College, Angola, Ind. In 1970, Sorensen joined Grand Valley State as a history instructor, was named assistant professor in 1972 and associate professor and department chair in 1975.

Charles Sorensen and his wife, Toni, have three daughters: Elizabeth, 19; Heather, 15; and Jennifer, 14.

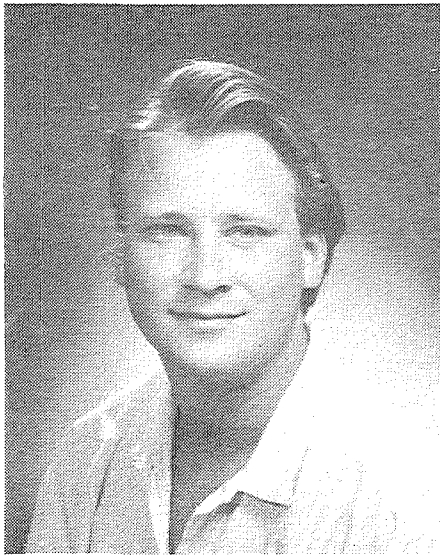

STUDENTS PURSUE INTERNATIONAL STUDIES SPECIALTIES

The international studies specialization program, introduced in the 1987/88 academic year, has been well received by participating students at Stout.

Complementing many of the majors offered at Stout, the specialization includes options in international business; international tourism; clothing, textiles and fashion; language studies; area studies; and comparative education. A number of specialization courses fulfill course requirements in various degree programs enabling students to participate without dramatically increasing their class load. This element has helped attract a number of participants, including four students with distinctly different career objectives, but all sharing a common interest in the international market.

Troy Franke has nearly completed his international studies specialization. He will graduate in August 1988, with a major in fashion merchandising and a minor in business. Troy has studied in both Denmark and Norway and has transferred Danish and Norwegian language credits from the University of Minnesota to satisfy his language studies option.

Troy intends to combine his travels, degree program and specialization to secure a position in import/export trade with emphasis on Scandinavian design.

Troy Franke

Bruce Thompson, a sophomore in the clothing, textiles and design program at Stout, is midpoint in the specialization program. He has selected language studies as his option and may pursue an international business option as well.

Bruce has a strong interest in the international design industry. He speaks French and German and will study in Switzerland at a bilingual university from October 1988 through July 1989. Following graduation in May 1991, Bruce would like to design couture fashions and commercial men's wear.

Christine Poirier

Douglas Mithun has recently begun the international studies specialization program. A sophomore in the hotel and restaurant management program, Doug hopes to use his international tourism credits to secure a position in the tourism industry, preferably working in the Far East.

Christine Poirier is possibly the newest program enrollee. She is a sophomore majoring in business administration and minoring in marketing. Chris has selected international business for her specialization option. With it, she would like to either work for the government as an ambassador of goodwill, or serve as a corporate spokesperson representing both a company and its product overseas.

CHARITABLE GIFT ANNUITIES — GIFTS THAT KEEP ON GIVING

There is a way for you to increase your retirement income and, at the same time, make a generous gift to UW-Stout's development. A charitable gift annuity allows you to do both of these things.

With a charitable gift annuity, you make a gift to the Stout University Foundation in exchange for a guaranteed annual income payment. That payment continues as long as you and/or one other beneficiary are living, after which the proceeds revert to a UW-Stout educational program in a manner you have designated.

To demonstrate how this annuity works, a UW-Stout alumnus had a block of stock paying a 2-3 percent dividend, which he was using as part of his retirement income. This individual created a charitable gift annuity by giving this stock to the Stout University Foundation. With his particular age, the Foundation could guarantee him a 9.1 percent lifetime annuity rate—three times the return he was formerly getting! The rate paid to individuals is established by the national Council on Gift Annuities and is determined from actuarial tables which factor in the donor's age.

Not only did this alumnus triple his annual income from this asset, but he also gained an immediate income tax deduction from the gift. He also received the satisfaction of knowing that a fund would be established in his name, at his death, to provide scholarship support for UW-Stout students.

If you would like additional information on charitable gift annuities, please write: Stout University Foundation, Louis Smith Tainter House, UW-Stout, Menomonie, WI 54751, or call (715) 232-1256. We can provide you with a rate/yield sample by for your specific circumstances. We would be pleased to talk to you about these annuities and other instruments which may help you in planning for both retirement and charitable gifts to UW-Stout. All requests for information are handled confidentially.

DEPARTMENTAL DETAILS

Work Ethics Attribute to High Placement Rates

Placement rates for the 1986-87 year may be the best ever, according to Bob Dahlke, director of Stout's Career Planning and Placement Office. Graduates from bachelor's programs placed 96.62 percent and 92.8 percent of these categorized themselves as placed in their major field of study or a related field.

Dahlke attributed Stout's high placement rates to a number of factors, one of which was the quality "work ethic" students possess.

"Industry keeps talking about the work ethic and Stout personifies that," he said. "That is the single most common thing that I hear. Employers are after the work ethic."

Dahlke credited Stout's specialized programs as offering students "an education that allows them to go to work day one," to "prepare for what the world needs." The high placement rates show that "Stout is staying in touch with what is needed out there."

Other factors affecting placement rates included a 4 percent increase in the number of companies recruiting on campus in the past year and an increase in students participating in cooperative education as well as in the university's annual career conference.

AAMA Accepts Stout Into Its Membership

A long time goal of Stout's clothing, textile and design (CTD) program has finally been realized, reports Annette Fraser, CTD's program director. The American Apparel Manufacturers Association (AAMA) Education Committee has accepted the university into its membership. With the membership, the AAMA Education Committee, acting like an accrediting agency, will provide assistance in curriculum development for apparel management and technology degree programs.

Membership is currently extended to nine institutions internationally. Fraser will serve as a committee representative.

Faculty Assignments

Patrick Liebergen

Carl Fischer-Music Publishers of New York has selected Patrick Liebergen, music, to develop a new series of choral works. His publications will be recorded on cassette tapes by professional choirs and distributed to choral conductors nationally. Liebergen's "Laudate Dominum," Carl Fischer's 1987 best seller, was presented by the Symphonic Singers on their 1988 concert tour.

Lee Smalley

Dr. Lee Smalley, industrial and marketing education, has been selected by the executive committee of the Council on Technology Teacher Education to serve as a technology teacher education consultant. He will assist other teacher educators with the development and implementation of technology education programs.

Virginia Wolf

Virginia Wolf, professor of English at Stout, has been appointed assistant to the chancellor for Affirmative Action. She is charged with developing and overseeing Stout's equal opportunity employment and affirmative action plan. She will review new employee recruitment and selection processes, conduct exit interviews, critique the results, and analyze results from disabilities self-examination surveys. In addition, Wolf will be coordinator of the university's Equal Opportunities in Education program.

Career Guide Published for Disabled Women

Disabled women and girls, the "hidden majority," are "overlooked by both the feminist movement and disabled organizations" and "need to portray assertive independence in job seeking and keeping," according to authors Dr. Mary Hopkins-Best, Ann Yurcisin and Shirley Murphy in their book Reaching the Hidden Majority: A Leader's Guide to Career Preparation for Disabled Women and Girls.

The guide features a series of self-directed exercises, activities, advice and resources, providing an effective training tool for teachers, trainers, vocational rehabilitation staff, parents and others.

All three authors are Stout graduates, faculty members at UW-Stout and work closely with disabled women: Dr. Mary Hopkins-Best is associate professor of education; Ann Yurcisin is director of Services for Students With Disabilities; and Shirley Murphy is a counselor in the Counseling Center.

Reaching the Hidden Majority, (1988), The Carroll Press, Publishers, Cranston, RI 02920.

Culinary Treats Recognized

The Geneva Executives Club has recognized two UW-Stout habilitational resource instructors and eight students in the hotel and restaurant management program for their tasteful contribution to the 1988 Salon of Culinary Arts, held at the St. Paul Athletic Club.

Associate Professor Philip McGuirk, Lecturer Peter D'Sousa and students served a variety of hot and cold hors d'oeuvres to over 500 guests at the 38th annual Winter Ball.

Grant Awards

Economic Development

Martin Ondrus, chemistry, and Doug Wikum, biology, professors at UW-Stout, received a $20,000 economic development grant from UW System, to work on water quality assessment for phase one of a salmon production facility being developed at the St. Croix Indian Fisheries, near Danbury.

Their award was one of eight projects, out of 59, approved for funding through a special $200,000 appropriation from the legislature for economic development.

Hospice Service

A home-care community-based hospice program has been established in Menomonie to provide support and care for persons in the last phases of incurable disease. Hospice Service of the Menomonie Area, Inc. is supported by financial contributions and volunteer professional services provided through the UW-Stout department of human development, family living and community educational service, and Myrtle Werth Medical Center, Menomonie.

Dr. Janette Hare, associate professor, HDFLCES, serves on the Board of Directors of the hospice service and is volunteer trainer and consultant. Hare was instrumental in obtaining a $30,000 grant from the Otto Bremer Foundation for the hospice service.

Research & Training

"New Directions for Rehabilitation Facilities," a five-year, $672,000 per year, national research and training grant, was awarded to Stout's Research and Training Center effective March 1. The grant was written by staff of the Research and Training Center under the leadership of Daniel McAlees, Ph.D., center director, Fredrick Menz, Ph.D., research director and Darrell Coffey, Ed.D., training director.

Grant monies will be used to develop effective models and strategies for rehabilitation facilities to implement community-based employment and rehabilitation of persons with physical disabilities and chronic mental illness.

THE GREEKS — THEN AND NOW

Sororities and fraternities have existed at UW-Stout for over 75 years. And although each has its own purpose for being, they commonly promote betterment in either the membership, university, or community at large.

Today, the community benefits a great deal by the many fund-raising activities sponsored by sororities and fraternities. The Alpha Omicron sorority has an ongoing project with the elderly at the Dunn County Health Care Center, and Kappa Lambda Beta also assists the elderly by shoveling snow for residents who are unable to do so. Alpha Phi sorority sells 25¢ suckers to raise money for those in need of heart surgery, and the Delta Zeta sorority works with the hearing impaired. Phi Omega Beta will host a Snow Bowl football game the first week of March to support the Kinship Foundation.

Currently, all but two of the twelve Greek organizations established at Stout exist. Many began as another entity and later became what they are today.

Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority: founded in March 1912 as Philomathean and, in April 1952, became Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Alpha Sigma Alpha Sorority: formed in 1922 as the S.M.A. (Sociability, Music and Art) Society and became Alpha Sigma Alpha in April 1952.

Delta Zeta Sorority: began as the Hyperion Society in March 1923 and, in April 1957, became Delta Zeta.

Phi Omega Beta Fraternity: founded in 1927 as Stout's first men's social fraternity.

Phi Sigma Epsilon Fraternity: began as the K.F.S. Society in the fall of 1930, was recognized by administration in 1932; became Phi Sigma Epsilon in 1952.

Alpha Phi Sorority: formed in 1934 as Pallas Athene became Alpha Phi in April 1958.

Sigma Tau Gamma Fraternity: formed in 1946 as the Phalanx became Sigma Tau Gamma, a national fraternity, in 1948. Stout faculty members John Jarvis, former Chancellor Robert Swanson and Bob Spinti all belonged to Sigma Tau Gamma.

Alpha Phi Omega Fraternity: established in 1946 with membership limited to former Boy Scouts. It disbanded in the mid-70s.

Chi Lambda Fraternity: formed in May 1956 to prove that college men could assemble socially and have a good time without alcohol.

Kappa Lamda Beta Fraternity: began as G.D.I. in January 1963, changed to F.U.B.A.R. - Friendship, Unity, Brotherhood, Athletics and Recreation - in 1964 and, in February, 1965, became Kappa Lamda Beta.

Alpha Omicron Pi National Social Sorority: currently reorganizing and pending recognition by the national organization.

REPORTING FROM LOUIS SMITH TAINTER HOUSE

by Patricia Wenner Reisinger

UW-Stout enjoyed a very successful Family Weekend April 16. Formerly, the weekend was known as Parents Weekend; however, the committee recognized that approximately 20 percent of Stout's enrollment is 26 years old or older, and that their families include more than their parents. It was a great weekend for families and friends to visit the campus. A special thanks to the advisors: Betty Klotz '84 and Steve Remington. Chairpersons were Lisa Schnese '91 and Barb Bahn '89. Three hundred fifty people toured the Louis Smith Tainter House. The Parent Association Steering Committee met during Family Weekend to plan future activities and to host the acting chancellor's Saturday morning coffee. Committee members include: Jack and Magdalena Hirst, Basil and Alicia Mundy, Bruce and Marilyn Nichols, Jim and Myrna Nord, and Lawrence Wozniczka. Alumni, some of whom are parents, included: Derek Perez, Randy Pickering, Roger and Judy Norton Sabota, Sherry Salm, Jim and Linda Gasperini Today, Judy Spain, director of UW-Stout Residence Life Program, and Patricia Reisinger.

Prior to Chancellor Swanson's retirement, the Alumni Association sponsored two farewell chapter activities in Tucson, AZ, and Tampa, FL, on the same weekend! This office had excellent help from Dewey Barich '33 and Harold Sack '34 in Tucson and from Cynthia Bauer '59 in Tampa. The Tucson alumni chapter met at the Hilton for brunch and a program featuring Chancellor Swanson. Mementos were given to graduates for all sorts of reasons: Paul Huber Dip. '24 has been in Arizona the longest and was the earliest graduate, Jim Bailey '48 moved most recently to Arizona, Diane Pschiva Sucharski '63 had the most recent career change, Lowell '49 and Eida McKenzie Tuft '47 had the youngest grandchild, Donna Daniels Reed '81 and Betsy Sandin Moore '81 were the most recent graduates. In Tampa on Valentines Day, Chancellor Swanson BS '49, MS '50 and Penny '48 greeted the Florida alumni at the Hilton Airport Hotel. Again the Alumni Association acknowledged graduates for their accomplishments: Dorr '35 and Jean Snoyenbos have resided in Florida the most years, Stuart Smith '53 is the most recent resident of the state, Sheldon Glassner '78 was the farthest from home, Laverne Hansen BS '34, MS '39 was the earliest graduate and Patricia Sylvester Kurey BS '58, MS '60 was a birthday celebrant that day.

Over 1,000 students graduated May 14. The Alumni Association greeted the graduates at the commencement reception. About 500 students will receive their degrees the first week in August. Graduates automatically become members of the Alumni Association and will receive the new alumni publication three times a year, the Alumnus magazine, notices of area alumni get-togethers, reunions and special activities. Don't forget to alert the Alumni office of any change in address.

Roger Sabota BS '64, MS '65 hosted the Central Wisconsin Education Association social in Wausau March 18. Shirley Brack Sweet BS '55, MS '63 represented Acting Chancellor Wesley Face at the inauguration of Rockford College's new president; Roger Williams BS '64, MS '67 represented Face at the inauguration of the new chancellor at Southwest State University, Marshall, Minn.; and Irma Thompson Miller '61 attended the inauguration of the president of Keene State College, Keene, N.H., for UW-Stout.

The spring annual fund phonathon was a success! The 20 student callers contacted 7,600 alumni and received pledges in excess of $46,000. For those of you who have a last name beginning with M-Z and weren't contacted by phone, we sent a note mentioning we tried but missed you!! With only 37 percent of UW-Stout's budget derived from state monies, the annual fund is an important addition to the budget. If you did make a pledge this year, the university faculty, staff and students thank you for aiding in the learning process.

We've received several inquiries lately about placing the university in a will.

The Alumni Association congratulates recent winners of its graduate scholarships and the Robert S. Swanson Fellowship. Annually, the office awards four $1,000 scholarships and one $3,000 fellowship. Remember those years of dues? When the Stout Alumni Association announced it no longer required dues to be a member of the Association, monies from life memberships were placed in an endowed scholarship and fellowship program. The 1988 scholarships were awarded to: Nancy Blake, Linda Bouck, Kay Kruse-Stanton and Linda Yuet-Swee Lim. The Robert S. Swanson Fellowship recipient was Sharon Giroux, a lecturer in the habita-tional resources department of the School of Home Economics. Congratulations to all of you! If any Stout graduate is interested in applying for either a scholarship or the fellowship, please request an application from the Alumni office. Deadline for submitting either application is February 1.

The calendar of events features all sorts of Alumni/Foundation activities. If hotel/restaurant majors have room at their place of business to hold an alumni gathering, please write to Patricia Wenner Reisinger, Associate Director of Development and Alumni Services, with the particulars. We can't use your facility if we don't know about it.
